Girls around the world thought girls should also have the chance to make their mark on the world. So she took Ruth to the library.
On the shelves were stories of girls and women who did big things. Ruth read about Nancy Drew, girl detective. She discovered Amelia Earhart, daring aviator. She learned of Athena, goddess of Greek myths. There were independent girls and women, taking charge.
Ruth read her way into the world. Around her, the sweet scent of books blended with savory aromas from the Chinese restaurant downstairs. Delicious! A girl could be anything.
